VOL. VII, No. 3, JANUARY 1960

Yorktown Graduates First OCS Class

On 18 December 1959, 130 new ensigns were commissioned from the first Officer Candidate School class to train at the Yorktown Reserve Training Center. Twenty-seven graduates were members of the Regular Coast Guard, commissioned for temporary service, while the balance of the class were reservists in either the "6X8" or "3X6" program.

Three members of the class were singled out for special awards. ENS George Beardsley of Colorado Springs, Colo., won the Commanding Officer's Award to the outstanding graduate, an officer's sword. He scored high in leadership and conduct as well as having third highest grades.

The Coast Guard Academy Alumni Association's Award of a Government Bond, for top grades, went to ENS Richard L. Huber of Boston, Mass., who achieved an 89.65 average.

The Coast Guard Washington, D.C. Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association presented a new award based on outstanding conduct, military bearing and military drill, to ENS Richard W. Strachan of Provincetown, Mass. The award was a combination ship's clock and barometer.

Principal speaker at the exercises was Under Secretary of the Treasury Fred G. Scribner, Jr., whose son was a member of the class. The oath of office was administered to the class by the Commandant, VADM A. C. Richmond. Other guests on the platform included RADM E. J. Roland, Commander, First Coast Guard District, representing the Alumni Association, RADM R. M. Ross, Chief, Office of Personnel, RADM P. V. Colmar, Commander, Fifth Coast Guard District, CAPT S. R. Sands, Jr., Chief of the Reserve Division, and CDR C. A. Sweeney, representing the Washington Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association.

Here is a Revised Compilation of Enlisted Correspondence Courses Applicable to Coast Guard Ratings

Since the publication of the Reserve Training and Publications Index, CG-236-R, and completion of arrangements for all organized units to receive the Navy List of Training Manuals and Correspondence Courses, NAVPERS 10061-J, available correspondence courses are no longer published in reserve instructions. Here, then, is your revised list of these courses. As changes occur from time to time, they will be published in later editions of the RESERVIST.

If you are not a member of a unit, and would like to take the necessary steps to advance in rating, you should request the Director of Reserve in your district to furnish you information on required correspondence courses and the appropriate application forms.

For Coast Guard courses, forward your application on Form CG-100A to the Director, Coast Guard Institute; and for Navy courses on Form NAVPERS 580 to the U. S. Naval Correspondence Course Center. All applications must be forwarded via the following chain of command:

1. If you are a member of a reserve unit, via the unit commanding officer and the district commander.
2. If not a member of a unit, via the district commander.

General information, such as granting of retirement-point credit and the proper use of correspondence courses, will be found in Reserve Instruction No. 15-59.

Hartford ORTU Holds Open House

← Some of the younger guests were spellbound by the exhibition of unarmed defense

. as demonstrated → and Roger Brisson, ESG2, both members of the Hartford

Police Department.

Organized Reserve Training Unit 03-180 opened its doors to the citizens of Hartford, Connecticut on 4 November, for its Annual Open House for 1959.

The overwhelming public turnout can be credited to the sound advance planning by commanding officer LCDR W. B. Muller, the efforts of his entire unit, the assistance of the local Coast Guard Recruiter, and the cooperation of The Hartford Times.

The program for the evening began with the traditional muster in the drill hall where the unit was inspected by CDR H. R. Cotton, representing the Commander, Third Coast Guard District.

After the muster and inspection, unit members joined the visitors to watch a Coast Guard film, depicting the Coast Guard's wartime role. Conducted tours guided groups through classrooms and past numerous displays where questions were answered.

When the audience reconvened after the tour, a series of demonstrations was presented. These included semaphore flag and flashing light signalling, rescue of a victim from a smoke-filled compartment and the application of rescue breathing, an explanation of the functioning of various aids to navigation, and an exceptionally animated and realistic demonstration of unarmed defense by members of the unit.

The Open House was concluded with refreshments and a final muster. ORTUPS 03-180 successfully combined the talents, pride, and resourcefulness of a well-molded unit into a concerned effort which resulted in a fine example of public relations, unit morale, and commendable Coast Guard representation.

Reminder for Service-Wide Examinations in April

Correspondence course requirements must be met before the examination can be administered. You men who are planning to take your examination in April - have you started your correspondence course? How many lessons have you done? Have you set yourself a firm date for submission of your final lesson?

Forms CG-3551 are due in district offices by 1 February and in Headquarters by 15 February. Are you training officers following carefully the progress of your men in their correspondence courses? Are

CG Officer Leads in Navy Instructor Training Class

Word has come in that LT Robert M. Dudley, a member of ORTUAG 03-973 of Philadelphia, Pa., completed Navy Instructor School in Philadelphia on 12 December 1959 with the top score in a class of 25. This is getting to be a habit with Coast Guard Reservists in Navy Schools - but we still "point with pride," and offer a hearty well-done!

If you desire consideration during 1960 for appointment as warrant officer, W-1, in the Coast Guard Reserve, your application must be submitted in time to reach the Commandant (PR) prior to 1 March 1960. Requirements and procedures for appointment will be found in Reserve Instruction No. 19-58.

New ID Cards Authorized for Inactive Reserve

The Department of Defense has authorized issuance of DD Form 2CG, in modified form, to reservists on inactive duty and to retired members of the Coast Guard and Coast Guard Reserve, replacing the current DD Form 1173 which has been in use for the past two years. This latter form will continue to be issued for dependents of active duty personnel.

DD Form 2CG (active), currently issued to active duty personnel, will have only minor changes and will remain green. DD Form 2CG (retired) is a new gray card and DD Form 2CG (reserve) is a new red card.

The changeover from DD Form 1173 will be made on a gradual basis, to reduce administrative costs and inconvenience to members. A directive will be issued in the near
